

acoR

Dear acoR,

A key part of the team, and one half of the Major rookie duo that you and Bymas form, you're coming into this tournament with a lot of doubters to prove wrong. The good thing is: there is nothing to prove that hasn't already been proven before.

You know just as well as us how good you can be. A focused and determined terminacoR can easily turn this game in to a point and click adventure, just like at Flashpoint 3. And even if you're the 3456945th Danish player to go to the Major, you're still special to us.

As an incredibly explosive awper, watching you play is always a blast, making sure every kill you get is a memorable one. While the days of kennyS' speedy awping are long gone (Thanks Valve), the soul of that style of play lives on in your big green, jumping into angles and not letting go of the w key in situations where many other awpers would stop.

With movement that our Silver III brains could only dream of, we all know that for you, the sky's the limit.
